

Security Studies

An introduction

Edited by

Paul D. Williams

CONTENTS

List of boxes, figures and tables	xi	The democratic peace thesis	36
Notes on contributors	xv	Neoliberal institutionalism	39
Acknowledgements	xix	Conclusion	43
List of abbreviations	xxi
 		4 GAME THEORY	44
1 SECURITY STUDIES:		Frank C. Zagare
AN INTRODUCTION	1	Introduction	44
Paul D. Williams		Primitive concepts	45
What is security studies? A very short overview	2	Strategic-form games and Nash equilibria	46
Defining a field of inquiry: four fundamental questions	5	Extensive-form games, backwards induction and subgame perfect equilibria	51
What is security? 5		Applications of game theory in security studies	53
Whose security? 7		Coda	56
What is a security issue? 8
How can security be achieved? 9		5 CONSTRUCTIVISM	59
How to use this book	10	Matt McDonald
 		Introduction: constructivism and security	59
Part 1 Theoretical approaches	13	Constructivism: central tenets and shared assumptions	60
 		Security as social construction: identity and norms 61
2 REALISM	15	Negotiation and contestation 64
Colin Elman		Agents, structures and change 66
Introduction	15	The Copenhagen School	68
Classical realism	17	Conclusion	72
Neorealism: Waltz's Theory of International Politics	18
Defensive structural realism	20	6 PEACE STUDIES	73
Offensive structural realism	22	Peter Lawler
Rise and fall realism	24	Introduction: What is peace studies?	74
Neoclassical realism	25	Peace studies: a brief history	75
Conclusion	26	Peace research as science 77
 		From peace research to peace studies 79
3 LIBERALISM	29	Key concepts	80
Cornelia Navari		Positive and negative peace 81
Introduction	29	Structural violence 83
Traditional or Kantian liberalism	30
Douce commerce	32

Cultural violence	85	Part 2 Key concepts	131
The future of peace studies?	87
7 CRITICAL THEORY	89	10 UNCERTAINTY	133
Pinar Bilgin		Ken Booth and Nicholas J. Wheeler
Introduction: the need for a critical perspective	89	Introduction	133
Rethinking security	90	The house of uncertainty	134
Critical theory	92	The quintessential dilemma	136
Theory/practice	96	Three logics	139
The 'Welsh School' of critical security studies	98	The security dilemma in the twenty-first century	143
Emancipation	100	Towards a new agenda for security studies	146
Conclusion	102
8 FEMINIST PERSPECTIVES	103	11 WAR	151
Sandra Whitworth		Paul D. Williams
Introduction	103	Introduction	152
Feminist approaches in international security	104	Three philosophies of war	152
Women, gender and security – the impacts of armed conflict	107	Trends in armed conflicts since 1945	156
Women, gender and security – action and activism	110	Who fights? Who dies? 161
Women, gender and security – talking and making weapons and war	112	Is the nature of warfare changing?	163
Conclusions	114	The idea of total war 163
		The 'new wars' debate 165
		The contemporary Western way of war 167
		Conclusion	169
9 INTERNATIONAL POLITICAL SOCIOLOGY	116	12 TERRORISM	171
Didier Bigo		Paul Rogers
Introduction	117	Introduction	171
Security studies within IR: bordering and debordering what security means	118	Terrorism in perspective	172
From security sectors to (in)securitization, a constructivist stance	123	Definitions	173
Is (in)securitization only a speech act enacting exception? The role of routines and technologies	126	State and sub-state terror	174
Conclusion	128	Responding to terrorism	175
		The 9/11 response and the War on Terror	178
		Trends in terrorism	182
		Terrorism and insurgency 182
		Internationalism 182
		Suicide terrorism 183
		Speed of learning 183
		Media developments 183
		Economic targeting 183

Mass casualty attacks and weapons of mass destruction 184		Setting the boundaries of human security	232
Conclusion	184	Ongoing debates and unresolved issues	233
13 GENOCIDE AND MASS KILLING	185	Human security risk assessment	238
Adam Jones		Governance and human security	240
Introduction	185	Towards a theory of human security	241
Genocide: key cases	188	Conclusion	242
Challenges of intervention	190	17 POVERTY	244
Conclusion: the way forward – and back	194	Caroline Thomas
14 ETHNIC CONFLICT	200	Introduction	245
Stuart J. Kaufman		Is poverty an appropriate concern for security studies?	246
Introduction	201	Whose poverty? Whose security?
What is ethnic conflict?	202	Placing human beings at the centre of our concern	247
An overview of ethnic conflicts	204	What do we know about the poverty–security nexus?	249
Causes of violent ethnic conflict	206	What do we know about poverty–violent conflict?	254
Sudan 208		Effect of poverty on conflict	254
Yugoslavia 209		Effect of conflict on poverty	255
International security dimensions of ethnic conflicts	210	The diplomatic agenda on poverty and security	256
Resolution of ethnic civil wars	213	Conclusion	258
15 COERCION	216	18 ENVIRONMENTAL CHANGE	260
Lawrence Freedman and Srinath Raghavan		Simon Dalby
Introduction	216	Introduction	261
Strategy	217	Environmental security	261
Deterrence and compellence	217	Robert Kaplan's 'coming anarchy'	262
Designing coercive strategies	219	Environmental threat: science?	264
Punishment and denial	220	Environmental threat: policy options?	266
Types of costs	222	Ten years after: the Pentagon climate scenario	268
Multiple audiences	224	Human security and global ecology	270
Reputations	225	19 HEALTH	274
Long-term impact	226	Colin McInnes
Conclusion	227	Introduction	274
16 HUMAN SECURITY	229	Health as a security issue	276
Fen Osler Hampson
Introduction	229
Understanding the scope of human security	230

The spread of infectious disease	278	22 THE UNITED NATIONS	325
HIV/AIDS as a security issue	279	Thomas G. Weiss and
Bioterrorism	282	Danielle Zach Kalbacher
A not so perfect partnership?	284	Introduction	325
Conclusion	286	The Security Council	327
		Composition	327
		Powers	329
Part 3 Institutions	289	The Security Council's task
		expansion	329
20 ALLIANCES	291	US hegemony	331
John S. Duffield with Cynthia Michota		Increased access by actors other and Sara Ann Miller		than states	332
Introduction: Why study alliances?	291	The General Assembly	333
Definitions: What is an alliance?	292	The Secretariat	334
Explanations of alliance persistence		Other UN organs and actors	336
and collapse	294	Twenty-first-century challenges	337
Theories of alliance formation	295	Changes in the nature of war and
Alliance institutionalization and		UN responses	338
socialization	298	Terrorism	340
The case of NATO after the		Disarmament and non-proliferation	341
Cold War	300	Conclusion	341
Background: NATO's origins and evolution during the Cold War	300
The puzzle of NATO's post-Cold War		Part 4 Contemporary	343
persistence	301	challenges
Explaining NATO's persistence	302
Conclusion: alliance theory and the		23 THE INTERNATIONAL ARMS TRADE	345
future of NATO	304	William D. Hartung
		Introduction	345
21 REGIONAL INSTITUTIONS	307	Three channels for arms transfers	346
Louise Fawcett		Arms sales take-off: the 1970s
Introduction	308	and 1980s	348
Organization of the chapter	310	Post-Cold War dynamics	351
Note on terms	311	Post-9/11 arms exports	352
The origins and development of		The trade in small arms and light
regional security institutions	311	weapons	353
Regional security institutions in		Dangers of dual use: the A.Q. Khan
the Cold War	313	network	357
Regional security institutions since		Prospects for restraint	359
the Cold War	316	Conclusion	360
Contemporary challenges	318
Peace operations	319	24 NUCLEAR PROLIFERATION	361
The post-2001 security environment	321	Waheguru Pal Singh Sidhu
Assessing the growth of regional		Introduction	361
security institutions	322	Three caveats	363

Non-proliferation regime	364	28 THE RESPONSIBILITY TO PROTECT	422
Three challenges	364	Alex J. Bellamy
Three approaches	371	Introduction	422
Way forward	373	Sovereignty and responsibility: from the American Revolution to the ICISS report	424
25 COUNTERTERRORISM	376	R2P	427
Paul R. Pillar		Responsibility to prevent	427
Introduction	376	Responsibility to react	429
Basic elements	377	Responsibility to rebuild	432
Defence	380	From ICISS to the World Summit	433
Going on the offence	382	Turning ideas into actions?	434
Law enforcement and military force	384	Conclusion	436
Issues and choices	387
26 COUNTERINSURGENCY	389	29 PRIVATE SECURITY	438
Joanna Spear		Deborah D. Avant
Introduction: the current discourse on counterinsurgency	389	Introduction	438
The state of the field	392	Private security and the control of force	440
The problem that counterinsurgency responds to – insurgency	394	A transnational market for military and security services	441
‘Hearts and minds’	397	The current market compared	445
The role of military force in counterinsurgency	398	Why the current market?	448
Learning on the ground	400	Conclusion	449
What difference does it make to be doing counterinsurgency in the media age?	402	30 TRANSNATIONAL ORGANIZED CRIME	453
Similarities to post-conflict peace building	402	John T. Picarelli
Conclusion	404	Introduction	453
27 PEACE OPERATIONS	407	Transnational criminal organizations	454
Michael Pugh		The illicit political economy	456
Introduction	407	The big three: drugs, people and arms	457
Language and meaning	409	The wide world of crime	459
Surge, retraction, resurgence	410	Money laundering and corruption	460
Reforms	413	The dark side of globalization	461
Brahimi’s report	413	Transnational crime as a security issue	462
Guéhenno’s goals	415	International security	462
Ban’s plans	416	National security	463
Standards	416	Human security	464
Hybrid operations	417	Responses to transnational crime	464
Public security gap	418	Conclusion	466
Conclusion: future prospects	419

31	POPULATION MOVEMENTS	468	A shift in the centre of gravity of world oil production	491
	Sita Bali		Oil facilities as a target of attack	492
	Introduction	468	Addressing energy (in)security	493
	Population movements as a security issue	470
	Population movements categorized	471	Conclusion	497
	Population movements and violent conflict	474
	Population movements and foreign policy	475	33 WHAT FUTURE FOR SECURITY STUDIES?	499
	Population movements and internal security	478	Stuart Croft
	Conclusion	480	Introduction: context and scope	499
32	ENERGY SECURITY	483	Locating security studies	500
	Michael T. Klare		Future directions in the subfield	503
	Introduction	483	Future directions in the subdiscipline	507
	Understanding energy security	484	Security studies, porous boundaries, and the struggle for coherence	510
	Why now?	488
	Intimations of global petroleum insufficiency	489	Bibliography	512
			Index	540

BOXES, FIGURES AND TABLES

Boxes

5.1	Constructivisms and identity	62
5.2	Barnett and Rabin's approach to the Oslo Peace Accords	65
5.3	The Copenhagen School's key terms	70
6.1	Johan Galtung's conception of the 'point of departure' for peace studies: 'peace by peaceful means'	80
7.1	Security as a derivative concept: the case of Israel	91
7.2	Problem-solving and critical theory: the case of South Africa	93
7.3	Statism and state-centrism	94
7.4	Realism's not-so-realistic approach to 'state failure'	95
7.5	'Politicizing security'	99
10.1	The security dilemma defined	135
10.2	The security paradox	138
10.3	John Mearsheimer's conception of offensive realism	140
10.4	Robert Jervis' definition of a security regime	141
10.5	Security dilemma sensibility defined	141
10.6	Karl Deutsch's definition of a security community	142
11.1	Is Clausewitz's thinking still relevant?	155
11.2	Defining war: cultural, legal and political approaches	157
11.3	Classifying contemporary armed conflict	158
11.4	The main elements of the 'new wars' thesis	166
11.5	Tarak Barkawi on globalization and war	167
12.1	Economic targeting	177
12.2	Whose terrorism?	180
12.3	Terror and the new media	181
17.1	The Millennium Development Goals, 2000	245
17.2	The blueprint for development: neoliberal economics, or 'the Washington Consensus'	250
17.3	Results of applying the Washington Consensus model of development	251
17.4	Progress on the Millennium Development Goals	252
19.1	Brundtland on global health and security	277
19.2	Infectious disease and globalization: SARS	278
19.3	Dando on bioterrorism	284
21.1	Security activities of selected regional institutions	309
24.1	Missiles: blind spot or alley?	365
24.2	The making of nuclear weapons	369
25.1	Successful and unsuccessful rescue attempts	379
26.1	Key definitions [of insurgency and counterinsurgency]	392
26.2	Counterinsurgency scholar-practitioners	393

27.1	The UK's categories of peace support operations	410
27.2	Peace Operations 2010	415
28.1	The responsibility to protect: principles for military intervention	430
29.1	Classifying a private security company: the example of ArmorGroup (formerly DSL)	442
30.1	The fight against the Sicilian Mafia	455
30.2	Crime groups compared	456
31.1	The 1951 Refugee Convention	472

Figures

2.1	Six realist research programmes	16
4.1	Arms Race game (Prisoners' Dilemma)	47
4.2	Strategic-form game with two Nash equilibria (Harsanyi's game)	49
4.3	Extensive-form representation of Harsanyi's game	51
4.4	The rudimentary asymmetric deterrence game	55
11.1	The number of state-based armed conflicts by type, 1946–2005	159
11.2	Estimated number of reported, codable deaths from state-based armed conflict, 1946–2005	161
11.3	The number of state-based armed conflicts by region, 1946–2005	162
21.1	UN and non-UN peacekeeping operations, 1990–2005	319
22.1	The United Nations system	328
27.1	Missions administered by the Department of Peacekeeping Operations	411
27.2	Uniformed personnel in UN peacekeeping, 1991–2006	412
29.1	Contracts in battlespace	443
33.1	Security Studies as a subfield and subdiscipline	500

Tables

3.1	Realist and liberal security systems	42
11.1	Intensity of armed conflicts, 1989–2006	160
21.1	Major regional institutions with security provision, 1945–2007	308
21.2	Cold War regional security institutions: the first wave, 1945–1965	313
21.3	Cold War regional security institutions: the second wave, 1966–1986	315
21.4	Post-Cold War regional security institutions: the third wave, 1987–2007	317

22.1	Secretaries-general of the United Nations, 1946–2007	335
23.1	Arms transfer agreements, Permanent Five Members of the UN Security Council, 1996–2005 (in millions of dollars)	347
24.1	Estimates of nuclear weapons in the possession of known nuclear weapons states	366
29.1	The variety of arrangements for allocating violence	446
31.1	World migrant numbers in selected years	469
31.2	Remittances to developing countries (in billions of dollars)	470