

Disaster Law

Kristian Cedervall Lautu

Table of Contents

Acknowledgements	xi
1 Introduction	1
1.1 Structure and content of the book	3
1.2 Some methodological remarks	4
1.2.1 On the field	7
1.2.2 On case selection	7
1.3 Limitation of scope	8
1.4 Conclusion	9
2 Disasters	11
2.1 Scientific revolutions: paradigm theory	13
2.2 Three paradigms of disaster research	14
2.2.1 God/divinity	15
2.2.2 Nature/contingency	17
2.2.3 The social/vulnerability	19
2.3 The social paradigm of disaster research: positions, classifications and developments	22
2.4 Modern disaster research	24
2.4.1 Risk	25
2.4.2 Vulnerability	29
2.4.3 The impact of disasters: death and destruction	31
2.4.4 Disasters and catastrophes?	33
2.4.5 Super hazards?	34
2.4.6 Natural disasters?	35
2.5 Conclusion: disasters as social phenomena	36
3 Exceptions and norms	41
3.1 Idealised positions in emergency theory	42
3.1.1 Legal-executive discretion: presidential prerogative, traditional martial law and police powers	43

3.1.2	Extra-legal executive discretion: the Lockian prerogative and extra-legality	45
3.1.3	Absolute executive discretion: the Schmittian exception	48
3.1.4	Legislative accommodation: the enabling act	53
3.1.5	Legislative accommodation: legality and the état de siège	55
3.1.6	Individual discretion: Dicey's martial law and necessity	56
3.2	Bridge: problems and presumptions of the theoretical field	58
3.2.1	First presumption: emergencies are generic	59
3.2.2	Second presumption: norms and exceptions	59
3.3	Sub-conclusion: exceptions and norms	59
3.4	Critique: dismantling the state of exception	60
3.4.1	On the concept of disaster	61
3.4.2	On the concept of law	65
3.5	Conclusion	70
4	Disaster management	75
4.1	Refuting exceptionalism: disaster management as a human right	76
4.2	Managing disasters: global disasters – global response	81
4.2.1	Nordic cooperation	83
4.2.2	European Union: to the rescue	84
4.2.3	International disaster response law	93
4.3	Conclusion: disaster management	102
5	Disaster responsibility	105
5.1	Bridge: misfortune and injustice	106
5.2	Excuses	109
5.2.1	Acts of God	110
5.2.2	Statutory exceptionalism: excuses and responsibility	122
5.2.3	Sub-conclusion: excuses	124
5.3	Responsibility for disaster	125
5.3.1	'Insouciance, myopia and shortsightedness'	125
5.3.2	A disaster 'made in Japan'	130
5.3.3	The L'Aquila Seven and penal law	132
5.3.4	Sub-conclusion: responsibility	135
5.4	Conclusion: disaster responsibility	136

6	Disaster law	141
6.1	Findings	142
6.2	A theoretical field on disaster law	144
6.3	A final perspective	146
6.3.1	The blame cycle	147
6.3.2	A line in the sand	148
6.3.3	The rationalist fantasy	149
6.4	Conclusion	150
	Index	155